

REFERENCE MATERIALS for ACTIVITIES

Your district may already have ample supplies of educational and resource material suitable for use in school and community activities. Please use a copy of this section to list your reference materials and their locations. A brief summary of the material may be helpful in determining where & when to use it.

NACD has an enormous amount of reference materials for just about any occasion. If you would like to see a complete list of materials available to rent or purchase, check out the NACD web site. USDA – NRCS and other organizations such as the Arbor Day Foundation, SWCS (Soil & Water Conservation Society), Project Learning Tree, etc., have materials suitable for classroom presentations.

_____ Sammy Soil Saver Puppet

Location of Sammy kit: _____

Sammy Soil Saver is a puppet kit developed by the SDACD for conservation education. If your district does not have a kit, they may be purchased from the NACD Service Catalog. If your district does not feel comfortable using the puppet, try to find a teacher or a 4-H member willing to use it. This puppet is a very effective tool for telling the conservation story to students (and adults!) in an entertaining way. It can be used in the school, church, youth or adult activities.
